

ABSTRACT

Compound for the decoration of ceramics

- 5 This invention relates to a compound for the decoration of ceramics and comparable materials which encloses a quantity of at least one inorganic pigment, a quantity of at least one glass-former and a quantity of at least one fusion element for the glass-former. The compound also contains a quantity of a non-polar material.